

PRESS RELEASE
1st April 2015

Would you be brave enough to jump out of a plane at 13,000 feet for Charity?

Last year 18 brave people took part in the Matthew Project's tandem skydive event raising more than £25,000 between them; this included The Bishop of Norwich, Rt Revd Graham James and Henry Cator, Patrons of the charity.

Sharon Hulbert, Media and Fundraising Manager, said, "We are now looking for other brave people, who want a challenge in 2015, to sign up for our event at UK Parachuting in Beccles on Saturday 9th May. Having experienced it myself back in 2013 I thoroughly recommend doing it even though I am not the bravest of people."

Nicki Cooper, Health Improvement Commissioner for Children and Young People's Services/Public Health at Suffolk County Council, has always wanted to do a tandem skydive and now she has the opportunity, raising funds for The Matthew Project.

"The Matthew Project works with people of all ages whose life has been touched by drug and alcohol problems - this is something that many people are faced with throughout their life whether it is being worried about their own use or someone else's. I have wanted to do a Tandem Sky Dive for a long time - so for me this is a perfect opportunity to raise money for charity as well as challenging myself!" said Nicki.
